On behalf of the PPAA, the Scientific Program Committee and NZIPP, Members are invited to join us at the 36th Annual PPAA Conference to be held in Auckland, New Zealand from June 11-13, 2016.

Our conference theme, "Sexualities – Psychoanalytic (Re)thinking: Sex, Gender and Sexuality" is reflected in the scope of the scientific program which will be announced shortly.

This year's Conference will be held at the Mercure Hotel in Auckland and is located in the heart of the waterfront district overlooking the spectacular harbour and bustling city. Within walking distance of Auckland shopping, restaurants, the Viaduct Harbour and being the main transport hub, this creates an ideal opportunity to plan an extra few days of relaxation after the conference.

Included in the events will be the screening of "Assume Nothing" a film focusing on the art, photography and performances of four "alternative" gender artists which poses the questions: "What if "male" and "female" are not the only options? How do other genders express themselves through art?". Kirsty MacDonald, Director of the film and Rebecca Swan who plays an important role in the film will be joining us for pre-screening drinks and discussion afterwards. We hope you will consider joining us to enjoy the connection, friendship and activities planned for our annual Conference. We look forward to welcoming you to Auckland in June.
